Use of cookies

We and our partners use cookies on our website. Necessary cookies are used to make the website work. Optional cookies are used for the purposes described below, and allow you to understand why we use your data. You have the right, at any time, to withdraw your accepted purposes and to protest that our legitimate interests constitute grounds for using cookies and processing your personal data.

What are Cookies?

Cookies, plugins, images, IFrames, scripts, beacons, fonts, stylesheets, pixel tags and similar technologies (collectively 'cookies') are small text files. A cookie does not in itself contain personal data.

What are remote resources?

Third parties can load remote resources on a website (A). Examples are tags and pixels that trace your activities or personalise content to you.

First time visit to our site

On your first-time visit to our website, your browser sends a request to our server, and our server sends a response to your browser together with a cookie.

Re-visiting our site

When you re-visit our website, your browser will send the cookie, that our website previously placed in your browser, to our server. Cookies may be present for 1) our website and 2) other websites.

What are first and third party cookies?

The same cookie can be either 'first-party cookie' or 'third-party cookie' depending on which site you visit. If you request to see a website (A), and that website uses content (code, maps, blog posts, videos) directly from another website (B), then your request to see the website (A) will also trigger a request to the other website (B) and attach and send the associated cookies to the other website (B). The other website (B) may on website (A) show to you content delivered directly from website (B), and also use other functionalities such as payments, measure website traffic etc.

How can you control Cookies?

Control cookies via your browser

You can enable or disable cookies, as well as delete your browsing history (including cookies) from your browser. Please refer to the options and instructions provided by your browser. If you accept third-party cookies, you can only delete them from your browser's options menu. If necessary, use the help function on your browser or click on one of the links below to go directly to the user manual for your browser.

User Experience

If you disable the cookies that we use on our website, this may impact your experience while visiting our website, for example you may not be able to visit certain areas of the website. If you use different devices to view and access our website, you must adjust each browser on each device to set your cookie preferences.

Opt out of Interest Based Advertising

We may work with third-party advertisers, ad agencies and other vendors that may be members of the Network Advertising Initiative, the Digital Advertising Alliance Self-Regulatory Program for Online Behavioural Advertising and/or the European Digital Advertising Alliance.
